Perception and Wellness

Perception has a powerful impact on your entire life, including overall health and wellness. Perception shapes the way you think and creates your outlook on life. An expansive, positive outlook will allow you to function with greater ease and less stress. A limited, narrow outlook creates more stress and can impact your health and wellness in a negative way.

What you see in any situation or circumstance is quite often determined by things beyond your control: your circumstance, the influence of others, or the patterns you inherited from parents and grandparents.

All these factors shape your ability to perceive the world.

But everyone has blind spots, things we just don't see because we lack necessary information. That's why people can share one experience and come away with multiple reports or attitudes about what happened. Some people will report the glass as "half-full" while others report the same glass as "half-empty."

Regardless of how your perceptions are formed, they create your reality and will drive the decisions you make on both a conscious and a subconscious level.

The More Things Change the More They Stay the Same

Clinical experience has shown that most perceptions are static. Because perception creates reality, this means you will repeat behaviors both good and bad, thus creating the same reality over and over. To the extent your perception is whole and expansive you will create a functional reality. To the extent your perception is lacking you will create dysfunction by holding on to opinions, attitudes, or ways of dealing with life that create a deficient outcome. This can be a major barrier in every area of your life, including personal relationships, the achievement of goals, and even healing or recovery from illness and injury.

Perceptions and Emotion

Perception is closely tied to emotion. Often you can sense the emotion of others just by listening to them speak, regardless of their words. In fact, the audible tones in spoken voice are packed with subtle energetic qualities that can be measured and tracked. These qualities change to match the topic because they are a reflection of the speaker's perception of the topic.

What if there was a process or a tool that would help you expand your perceptions, a tool that would provide you the information you need to eliminate your blind spots?

ZYTO Biocommunication - Introducing the ZYTO EVOX

ZYTO EVOX uses your voice as the indicator of perception (VOX is Latin for voice). During an EVOX session, the computer will record and track subtle energetic qualities in your voice. This information is used as part of a process called Perception Reframing.

Here is how it works:

1. EVOX records a 10-second slice of your voice and displays it on the computer as a Perception Index.
2. The Perception Index shows the energy pattern of your voice. This pattern includes energy, or information that is present and information that is missing. The Perception Index is divided into 12 zones, allowing you to identify and consider potential blockages.
3. Using a stimulus-response exchange called a biosurvey, the EVOX scans information options and selects those you respond most favorably to; the information your body 'likes.'
4. EVOX then sends that information to you while you rest your hand on the Hand Cradle and think about the topic or event or person of which you are speaking.
5. The process of reading the voice and then receiving information through the Hand Cradle is repeated several times throughout the EVOX session. As missing information is incorporated, the voice pattern will change. These changes will be recognized by the software and then revealed in the Perception Index. A significant change in the pattern or "shift" is an indication that the perception of the topic has been reframed.
6. Perception Reframing leads to new ways of seeing things, more options for dealing with life, and new, improved realities.

ZYTO support technology provides general wellness information, including information about biological preferences, to your healthcare provider. The diagnosis and treatment of health conditions can only be made by a qualified healthcare professional.

Every Perception Index (PI) is topic specific. Excess or imbalanced voice energy indicates personal perception of the topic.

Yellows indicates a zone with a level three excess or high imbalance.

Blue indicates a zone with a level one excess or low imbalance.

Gray shows the entire voice energy across all zones.

White shows offsetting zones containing lower amounts of voice energy.

Black shows overall voice energy imbalances.

Green indicates a zone with a level two excess or medium imbalance.

Red indicates a zone with a level four excess or extreme imbalance.
